Summary of Inspection

Overall Summary

Stoneybridge WTW is a small works which serves the west of South Uist. It is fed by water from Loch Iarras which is very variable both in quality and quantity. This variable raw water means that the site must be highly managed to provide compliant water. Water is coagulated and then filtered using dynasand filters which run continuously. Disinfection is via chloramination. The works is well run and maintained with good housekeeping but is showing its age.
