Overall Summary

Yarrowfeus is a simple, borehole works located beside the Yarrow River and serving the neighbouring properties. It is due to be mained out from Howden in 2021. Boreholes are adequately protected and last cleaning reports show they are in good condition. Water quality is very consistent and of good quality other than during extreme weather events when the river floods. Process consists of hypo dosing for disinfection followed by caustic for pH control. No clarification or filtration stages.
